

Maggie A. Cropp

mcropp@watsonspence.com

Education

Mercer University - Juris Doctor
Mercer University - Bachelor of Arts

Maggie Cropp focuses her practice on family law matters including divorce and post-divorce modification issues such as child support and custody as well as a variety of complex commercial litigation seeking monetary and equitable relief, including temporary restraining orders and injunctions.

She joined Watson Spence in 2019 after graduating magna cum laude from Mercer University School of Law with a Juris Doctorate. While in law school, Maggie was a member of the law review, an editor for the Journal of Southern Legal History, a research assistant to Professor Linda Jellum, and a recipient of four CALI awards (award given for the highest grade in the class). Prior to law school, Maggie attended Mercer University where she competed all four years on Mercer's Division I soccer team and earned her Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology with minors in Criminal Justice and Business Administration.

